National Online Assembly — Pilot

This document is the designated home of the National Online Assembly Report. The report will be published here on completion of the assembly's first full deliberation cycle.

The report will set out the question the assembly was convened to answer, the process by which members were selected from across the United Kingdom, the deliberations undertaken, and the recommendation reached — written by residents, for residents.

In line with the DD&SA; transparency standard, the complete record — the question posed, the evidence received, the experts heard, summaries of deliberation, the assembly's reasoning, and its final recommendation — will be published in full at this address. Nothing material to the decision will be withheld, and any redaction will itself be recorded and justified.

Until publication, this placeholder confirms that no report has yet been issued. A DD&SA; assembly publishes its findings once, completely, and on the record — not in fragments or leaks.
